

PUBLIC PETITIONS COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION OF PE1454
QUESTIONS ARISING FROM COMMITTEE MEETINGS

TUESDAY 16 APRIL 2013

Scottish Government—

- Please respond to the recommendations in the submission from Dr Marjory MacLean of 21 February 2013 (PE1454/B).

Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists—

- What are your views on what the petition seeks?
- Will you consider providing a patient information sheet and national guideline on the management of hyperemesis?

TUESDAY 22 JANUARY 2013

Pregnancy Sickness Support—

National Childbirth Trust—

Royal College of Midwives—

British Medical Association Scotland—

Royal College of Nursing Scotland—

- The Committee draws your attention to the evidence received by this Committee on support for women who experience hyperemesis during pregnancy (Official Report, c.1023 – 1029).
- The petitioner is seeking specialist nurse support and national guidelines for health boards. What are your views on what the petition seeks?

NHS Forth Valley—

- The Committee draws your attention to the evidence received by this Committee on support for women who experience hyperemesis during pregnancy (Official Report, c.1023 – 1029).
- Please set out the background to NHS Forth Valley producing guidelines on day treatment of women with moderate hyperemesis and inpatient treatment of women with hyperemesis.
- Does NHS Forth Valley have any nursing staff or midwives who provide specialist support for women who experience hyperemesis?
- Do you have any other comments on what the petition seeks?

Scottish Government—

- The Committee draws your attention to the evidence received by this Committee on support for women who experience hyperemesis during pregnancy (Official Report, c.1023 – 1029).
- Please set out how the Scottish Government ensures that health boards and professionals across the NHS are aware of the early pregnancy assessment service to women who experience complications in early pregnancy and are able to directly refer to it, as laid out in the A Refreshed Framework for Maternity Care in Scotland document?
- How does the Scottish Government ensure that the Framework is implemented by health boards?
- Does the Scottish Government have any plans to consider national level guidelines on hyperemesis for the NHS in Scotland?
- Do you have any other views on what the petition seeks?